#580: I Wouldn't Put My Name on It, Either

Got this one from a chief who is his command's safety department LCPO and fire warden. For both reasons, as well as common sense and his lifetime-to-date accumulation of "What the heck?" moments, we can easily understand his reaction to the pictured tableau. He had been making a walkthrough of his spaces when he came across the yellow sticky attached to the top of the microwave in their lounge.
